SATURDAY, APRIL 14, 1894.

Entered at the Postoffice at Accoma C. H., Va., as second-class matter.

David B. Hill has made the big tory to the protectionists that the Republican leader of the N. Y. State

With the Board by the citizens of Tangier Island.

He was satisfied, he said, that the the United States Senate. Recalling his famous utterance in connection therewith, "I am a Democrat." it looks as if, like another, "who was a better Democrat than Ben Hill" he might be like he was when he uttered. Continuing, the glovernor said the Continuing, the knole matter was to be investigated by committees of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting and Maryland Legislatures acting the Democrat and Maryland Legislatures acting and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times states that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times that Mr. John Staples, a Henry county farm to the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times that Captain Read he had, he said, he said, he and he head, he view of the Virginia and Maryland Legislatures acting the Danville Times that Captain Read he had, he said, he said, he and he head, he said, he and he head, he head, he said, he said, he and he head, he head, he had, he said, he head, he had, he head, he might be like he was when he uttered it, well on his way to the Republican camp. The speech consisted mainly of denunciation of the income tax feature of the Wilson bill and of a criticism of the administration. The tariff bill is not at all to his taste and his speech seems to indicate that he would not support it. The representatives from Virginia are outspoken in their criticism of it. Hon. W. A. Jones says: "It will take more than the 'lam a Democrat' declaration with which Senator Hill has been wont to decorate himself in the past to make honest tariff-reformers believe in his honest tariff-reformers believe in his Democracy hereafter. His declaration that he will defeat if possible all tariff legislation unless the inall tariff legislation unless the income-tax feature of the bill now under consideration in the Senate is eliminated shows the true quality of his Democracy. I am not prepared to credit the story the next Republican ticket will be McKinley and Hill, but I am quite sure the one stands as good a show as the other."

The Governor further said that the Tangier people were thoroughly satisfied with the cyster legislation of the legislation of the last General Assembly, and were particularly plused with the crabbing interest, he learned, was an immense one. Captain Baylor had informed him that last season he counted one day in Pocomoke and Tangier over eight hundred crabbing canoes. Crisfield, stands as good a show as the other."

Pocomoke city has another newspaper, "The Worcester Enterprise" and its initial number indicates, that it will be no laggard in the race for the patronage of the people of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia. It will be published every Friday by E. D Tingle & Son, men of wide experience in the "art preservative" and cannot fail of success in the thrifty and intelligent community to which it will look mainly for its support. The business men of Pocomoke are too enterprising not to avail themselves of the advantages of any enterprise which falls in their way, notwithstanding the fact they already have in the Peninsula Ledger an excellent advertising medium.
